

A REAL BATTLE FOUGHT NEAR HANKOW, CHINA, THIS MORNING

REBELS WELL ARMED AND EQUIPPED FOR THE FIGHTING.

ROYALISTS FELL BACK

Were Out of Ammunition and Forced to Retire—Foreign Correspondents Had Narrow Escape From Death.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Hankow, Oct. 18.—In the battle today between the imperial troops and the rebels an indecisive advantage, if any, appeared to be with the rebels. The engagement was precipitated by an attempt of Admiral Su Chen Ping to land a large body of troops for the reinforcement of General Chang Pao. It was daybreak when the admiral ordered his cruisers to disembark the soldiers. The revolutionists on the Wu Chang fortifications detected the movement and opened a hot fire with artillery and the cruisers and gunboats replied with a rain of shells which covered the landing of the troops. Scattered bodies of revolutionists on both sides of the river joined in the fighting and by mid-morning it was estimated that about ten thousand rebels engaged. All the foreign warships in the river sent landing parties ashore for the protection of foreign interests.

Driven From Post.
While being driven from their position the imperial troops exhausted their rifle ammunition and were compelled to retire upon the base at Wu Chang. It is impossible to estimate the casualties, as correspondents are not permitted near the firing line.

Narrow Escape.
The foreign newspaper correspondents circling the river in expectation of a battle, narrowly escaped with their lives, their launch being caught between the fire of two forces.

Capture Nanking?
Shanghai, Oct. 18.—It was reported the rebels had captured both Nanking and Kiating. The battle of Nanking is north of here and heavy firing has been continuous since dawn. Many of the wounded have been brought here. The force of 2,000 imperial troops are strongly entrenched. The rebels at sunrise made a simultaneous attack on the imperial forces and the gunboats in the river which they shelled from long range.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—In the presence of one of the most notable gatherings of American educators ever assembled at one time, Dr. George E. The day's program was opened with an academic procession in which the editors, alumni, students, faculty and guests, all wearing academic gowns according to their degree, took part. The procession was followed by formal exercises in the armory. Dr. Vincent was introduced by his predecessor, Dr. Northrup. In a brief speech of welcome, former Governor John Lind, president of the board of regents, formally turned over to the new president the administration of the university. Greetings from other institutions and from the faculty, student body and alumni of the University of Minnesota followed. President William C. Thompson of the Ohio State University, presented the congratulations of the National Association of State Universities. The formal exercises concluded with the inaugural address of the new president.

Dr. George E. Vincent, who becomes third president of the University of Minnesota, comes to the institution from the University of Chicago, where he served for ten years as professor of sociology. He was born in Rockford, Ill., forty-seven years ago and is the son of Bishop John H. Vincent, of the Methodist Episcopal church. After graduating from Yale in 1885 he engaged in editorial work for one year and then made an extensive tour of Europe and the Orient. Upon his return to America he became literary editor of the Chattanooga Press. He went to the University of Chicago in 1892 as a fellow in sociology and continued as an instructor and professor at that institution until his election last year as president of the University of Minnesota.

HEAVY RAINS CAUSE THE POSTPONEMENT OF BIG GAME TODAY

Fourth Game in World's Series Will Be Played on First Good Day—Giants Welcome Delay As Matty Will Recapture.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 17.—Rain prevented the playing today of the fourth game between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics for the world's series. The postponed game will be played tomorrow in Philadelphia, weather permitting. In any event it will be played in the Quaker city the first clear day. Giant players and fans are elated over the calling off of today's contest as the delay will put Rube Marquard in much better shape to face the Athletics and will give Mathewson an extra day of rest so that he can take his turn in the box again on Friday, strong, to go the full route. Nor has Connie Mack's team manifested undue anxiety over the postponement. Bender and Plank will secure more rest and either of them will be able to do slab duty tomorrow. The rain began falling here last night at 10 o'clock and continued until 10 o'clock this morning, most of the time in torrents. The infield at Shibe park was flooded despite the mammoth coverings, while the outfield was the usual sea of mud. Members of the national committee, after discussing the situation, decided to call it off.

CAPITOL BRIDGE OF SIGNS IS TORN DOWN

North and East Wings of Wisconsin Statehouse Now Isolated From the West Wing.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—The bridge of signs connecting the north and east wings in the state capitol, with the new west wing is no more, and as a result one half of the state government is completely cut off from the other half. Part of the space is used for a brick foundation wall, and the contractors, a local firm, began yesterday afternoon to tear down the long, angular passage-way. Not for two years, or until the dome is finished, will there be communication between these wings outside the medium of the telephone or a long walk on the outside. The departments in the west wing thus isolated include the secretary of state, state treasurer, industrial commission, fish and game warden, fish commissioner, dairy and food commission, state treasury agent, state oil inspector, board of normal regents, state highway commission, state immigration commissioner, banking department, and board of agriculture.

ATTORNEYS CLASH IN HEATED WORDS AT HEARING TODAY

Differences Between Lorimer Counsel and Attorney Marble Brought Out in Discussion.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 17.—A sharp tilt between Judge Finney, counsel for Lorimer, and Attorney Marble, assistant to the committee, marked today's session of the senatorial investigators probing the "Lorimer case." Finney voiced bitter objection in the name of decency and of the honor of the legal profession to Marble's badgering of Representative Robert E. Wilson. Marble replied hotly. Then the committee intervened. Wilson testified regarding his bank account in 1909 after the election of Lorimer. At first he said he thought he had about $500 on deposit, but by successive questions Marble got him to say that perhaps it might have been about $2,000.

All through the session Marble and Finney quarreled vigorously. Marble bitterly declared Finney was unfair in condemning him for badgering Wilson. The witness said he had no recollection of ever saying that the governor's veto of corporations bill had cost the boys $28,000. He said he didn't know the governor vetoed the bill.

Be Specific in Wants

When you write a Want Ad tell all the important facts. Explicit Want Ads are the ones that give the readers the most comprehensive idea and bring about the greatest number of replies. If you seek to sell property through the Wants—tell all the important points about it—location, conditions of buildings, price, etc. If you seek to secure employees through the Wants—tell just exactly what is to be expected of the workers so that only those who are qualified will apply. If you have business opportunities to present—make a plain statement of facts so that prospective investors may have enough information to guide them in their replies. Specific Wants—those that tell all the facts—are the most resultful.

"I believe in efficacy of prayer," the secretary observed, "but at the same time I don't believe I am in imminent danger of being stricken down because I'm here." In his address to the congress, Wilson ignored the storm of protest. He addressed himself to the foreign delegates and spoke of what the United States had gained in agricultural products and agricultural information from the old country.

M'NAMARA DEFENSE IS DECIDED ON AS SHOWN BY RULINGS

James B. Will Not Be Placed on the Stand According to the Decision of the Attorneys.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 18.—It is said on good authority that James McNamara probably never will go on the witness stand. This hint held a forecast of the plans of the defense to a standpoint theory that the Times disaster was caused by gas. The examination of witnesses was continued today. Despite the fact six venemen have already been passed by the defense in the McNamara case of cause it was made absolutely certain by today's developments that only one, John W. Roberts, has a possible chance of remaining through the trial. His fate is undecided as far as the state is concerned, but he probably will be challenged because he boldly told Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, he favored union labor. The defense today declared H. Y. Quackenbush, who swore he had no opinion one way or the other, is said to have spoken previously against unions. The state will endeavor to remove Robert Bain, A. H. McIntosh, T. W. Adams and George McGeary, the remaining witnesses, for cause. Failing that it will challenge them peremptorily. There are objections to each man.

COACH SAVING MOLL FOR SATURDAY GAME

Will Take No Chances on His Receiving Further Injury—Have Scrimmage With Freshmen.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—Taking no chances of further injury to Moll, Coach Richards allowed the star quarterback to run signals for a time and then assigned Castle to run the team for the rest of the afternoon yesterday. In the scrimmage with the freshmen the only change from Monday's lineup was the use of Van Liper and Bright at half. The plays with which Richards drilled his men, Monday, were yesterday tried out with real opposition in the freshmen. The coaches put the men through a program designed to test out Colorado formations and attention was given also to Illinois plays. Rothgeb, former Illinois star, is coaching the Colorado team and it is presumed he has drilled his men in some of the formations used at Urbana. "Germany" Schultz was out in football gear yesterday to help round the team into shape for the big games to come. It is clearly evident that it is fast developing into a permanent working machine toward which every effort has been directed since the season opened.

EIGHT HAVE TYPHOID AT MONROE ASYLUM

Epidemic Breaks Out Among Patients and Employees of Green County Institution—May Use Vaccine.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—There are now eight cases of typhoid fever among the patients and employees at the Green county asylum at Monroe. The state hygienic laboratory here sent down the bacteriologist, Dr. Karl W. Smith, who vaccinated 103 of the patients and employees against typhoid fever, employing the same method which is used in the United States army and in the marine hospital and public health service. This movement of giving out anti-typhoid vaccine has recently been started by the state hygienic laboratory. The state board of health has also sent Dr. L. E. Spencer, one of its members, who also made an inspection of the premises. The diagnosis of this case was made by Dr. Gault, medical attendant of the hospital. The examination by Dr. Spencer and by Dr. Smith confirmed Dr. Gault's diagnosis, and these were further confirmed at the state hygienic laboratory under the supervision of Dr. M. P. Ravenel.

The chair on the extreme left was vacant. The first of the petitions for leave to file a brief as a friend of the court in the so-called Minnesota rate case was submitted today by Edmund S. Durnant of Minnesota who was employed as counsel by the state in the lower courts. Durnant is no longer employed by the state but took the action upon his own initiative.

MORRIS WAS RECALLED

Lieutenant Governor Tells Senate Investigating Committee All He Heard About The Stephenson Campaign.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Oct. 18.—The startling turn given by the Stephenson investigation yesterday by Lieut. Gov. Morris, in which he said he had been informed that a fund of $100,000 was raised by Edward Hines to bring about Stephenson's election by the legislature may result in extending the period of the investigation. Many Men Named. Subpoenas have been issued for various men named by Morris, and it is expected that their testimony will occupy some time. Lieutenant Governor Morris was still on the stand this morning under cross-examination by Attorney Littlefield. By Leading. He was followed by Senator Paul Hastings who, Morris said, also attended the meeting in Chicago at which William H. Cook of Duluth, told of ruling the Hines fund. Shields' Story. Great interest centers in the whereabouts of Robert J. Shields of Superior, who is said to be the go-between in both the Lorimer and Stephenson cases. Today's Testimony. Five witnesses were heard this morning. Lieutenant Governor Morris of La Crosse, A. H. Ames, Gen. C. H. Russell, Thomas M. Partell, State Fire Marshall, and Roy L. Morse of Fond du Lac. Tells of Money. The cross-examination of Morris was continued from yesterday but Chairman Heyburn directed that it cease and temporarily excused the witness. Ames told of dispersing $1,000 Stephenson money. Russell of $750, Partell of $175 and Morse of $700. New Witnesses. A half dozen new witnesses were called, chiefly former assemblymen connected with rumors of bribery at the time of Stephenson's election by the legislature. From Sackett. Ames testified he got the money from Edmunds and Sackett at different times and was told to keep $500 for himself for organizing Dane county. Roy L. Morse of Fond du Lac, charged by Senator Tamm with receiving $1,000 from Stephenson, said he received only $700. He rendered no account. Russell's Bill. C. H. Russell, chief clerk of pension office at Madison, testified he received $700 to $750. He was a candidate for nomination for congress and carried on a dual campaign for Stephenson and himself. Senator Stephenson with his two daughters, Mrs. H. P. Brown, Marquette, and Mrs. Earl Morgan, Oshkosh, were present today. Too Absurd. Chicago, Oct. 18.—Through his wife, Edward Hines, the lumber man, today sent word to a reporter that Lieutenant Governor Morris' charges before the Stephenson investigating committee at Milwaukee yesterday, that Hines had engineered a "jack pot" to elect Stephenson senator, was "so laughable that it wasn't worth answering. Hines himself refused to be interviewed.

Almost Deserved His Life.
Richard Johnson, hanged at Shreveport, England, on October 3, 1896, obtained a promise from an under sheriff to place him in the coffin without changing his clothes. After hanging half an hour he still showed signs of life, and on examination it was found he had wrapped cords about his body, which prevented the rope from doing its work. The apparatus was removed and the man hanged effectively.

REMARKABLE COPY OF LORD'S PRAYER FOUND DURING WAR

Copy of Prayer Which Was Found by Union Soldier in New Orleans Owned by W. W. Willis.
W. W. Willis of this city has a copy of a rather remarkable document which was found in the streets of New Orleans by a Union soldier at the time of the capture of that city. It was a version of the Lord's Prayer in verse inscribed on a piece of silk and was evidently the work of an early monk. The poem has been loaned to The Gazette and is given below:

THE LORD'S PRAYER.
Thou to the mercy seat our souls dost gather,
To do our duty unto thee—Our Father,
To whom all praise, all honor shall be given,
For thou art the great God—Who art in Heaven.
Thou, by thy wisdom, rulest the world's whole frame;
Forever, therefore—Hallowed be Thy name.
Let nevermore delays divide us from Thy glorious grace, but let—Thy Kingdom come.
Let thy commands opposed be by none but thy good pleasure, and—Thy will be done;
And let our promptness to obey be even
The very same—in earth as it is in Heaven;
Then for our souls, O Lord, we also pray
Thou wouldst be pleased to—give us this day
The food of life, wherewith our souls are fed,
Sufficient raiment, and—our daily bread;
With every needful thing do Thou relieve us,
And of thy mercy, pity—and forgive us.
All our misdeeds, for Him who thou dost please
To make an offering for—our trespasses
And forasmuch, O Lord, as we believe
That thou wilt pardon us—as we forgive,
Let that love teach, wherewith Thou dost acquaint us,
To pardon all—those who trespass against us.
And though, sometimes, Thou find'st we forget
This love for thee, yet help—and lead us not Through soul or body's want to desperation
Nor let earth's gain drive us—into temptation.
Let not the snail of any true believer
Fall in the time of trial—but deliver,
Yes, save them from the malice of the devil.
And both in life and death keep us from evil.
Thus pray we, Lord, for that of thee from whom
This may be had—For Thine is the kingdom.
This world is of thy work, its wondrous story
To Thine belongs—the power and glory;
And all thy wondrous love have ended never
But will remain for ever—and—forever.
Thus we poor creatures would confess again,
And thus would say eternally—Amen.

SIDEWALK MATTER AGAIN DISCUSSED

Edgerton Council Unable to Reach Decision on Pringle Sidewalk at Meeting Last Night—Edgerton Locals.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE].
Edgerton, Oct. 18.—The chief subject under discussion at the meeting last night of the common council was the famous Pringle sidewalk on Mechanic street, and with the question unsettled, notwithstanding that the walk was ordered built some time ago. Since the last meeting of the council the county surveyor has been called on to locate the line. Citizens who were here fifty years ago have been consulted as to whether the Pringle house was built inside the street line of the original survey. Stakes and monuments of different surveyors have been located, at a wide variance and today nobody seems certain as to the exact location of the line. There were arguments from Justice North and Harry Hutson, representing the Pringle interests and the question occupied the council's attention nearly the whole evening. An adjournment was taken to Thursday evening, Oct. 19, at which time it is hoped the matter will be settled.

Traffic has been resumed on the lines west of Madison after being tied up for several days on account of a bad washout near Wauzeka, on the Prairie du Chien division. The rains in the northern part of the state have ceased and it is hoped no more washout troubles will be encountered.

Engineer Cunday and Fireman Olson took Engine 1604 at 11:15 this morning for work on the Mineral Point division.

Former Yardmaster Kelly, who was relieved from his position by the re-establishment of such offices he has taken up work on one of the switch engines in the yards here.

Jack Described It.
A sailor was once asked by a messmate not quite so well up in matters social as himself to explain to him the third figure in a quadrille. "You first of all heave ahead," said he, "and pass your adversary's yardarm; then in a fifty regain your berth on the other tack in the same kind of order; slip along sharp, and take your station with your partner in line; back and fill, and then fall on your heel, and bring up with your craft. She then maneuvers ahead off alongside you; then make sail in company with her until nearly astern of the other line; make a stern board; cast her off to shift for herself; regain your place out of the squadron as best you can, and let go your anchor."

Depths of North Atlantic.
The greatest depth determined by the Challenger soundings, which was that of a limited depression about a hundred miles to the north of St. Thomas, was 3,875 fathoms, or about 4½ miles. Except in the neighborhood of its coast lines, and in certain shoal areas, the floor of the Atlantic basin at its widest point seems to lie at a depth of from 2,000 to 3,000 fathoms, its slopes being extremely gradual.—New York American.

How It Looked.
"I think you ought to turn the lights up a little when your bean comes," said the boy who is beginning to use big words to his older sister. "I wouldn't sit in the dim light, if I were you. It looks too conspicuous."

Terrible Suffering
Eczema All Over Baby's Body.
"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Inez Lewis, Barling, Maine.
Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood diseases and builds up the system. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

FOOT CRUSHED BY ENGINE LAST NIGHT

Employee of Canning Factory Suffered Serious Injury About Nine O'clock Last Night.

Fred Zambitzer who has been employed at the canning factory for about two weeks, and whose home is in Ottumwa, Ill., met with a serious accident on the North-Western tracks near the factory of the Calorin company last night about nine o'clock which resulted in the crushing of his left foot so severely that amputation was necessary.

It is thought that Zambitzer was struck by a switch engine or had fallen beneath the wheels in some manner, with the injurious result. The crew of the engine which is supposed to have caused the injury, was not aware of having been responsible, as the man was found lying beside the track by persons living near who heard his cry for help. The ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to Mercy Hospital. Dr. E. E. Loomis, assisted by Doctors Pember and Nuzum performed the amputation, just above the ankle. His condition was considered quite serious, owing to the fact that he had not been found for some time after the accident and had suffered from the loss of blood.

FIREMEN WILL GIVE A BENEFIT PROGRAM

Have Leased Majestic Theatre for Week Beginning October 29.—Will Show Pictures of the Department in Action.

A benefit performance for the firemen's Relief Association of Janesville, in which the three different fire departments of the city will be shown in action, will be given at the Majestic theatre all of the week beginning October 29, the firemen having leased the theatre for that length of time. The pictures, which will be taken by the Wisconsin Moving Picture company, Messrs. J. F. Huebner and E. H. Louthain, will represent a night fire run. The firemen will be shown turning out of their beds on the ringing of the alarm; sliding down the pole to the first floor; the horses coming out of their stalls; the harness falling into place; and the complete apparatus—chief's auto, fire engine, hose, wagon, ladder wagon, and aerial truck leaving the station. The engine will be fired up ready for business and together with the aerial truck will give a demonstration at one of the tallest buildings downtown.

The pictures for the performance will be taken sometime this week, and will include in addition to what has already been described, runs from the Springfield and No. 2, fire stations, and a fire drill at the high school which was held this morning.
On Saturday of this week motion pictures will be taken on the busiest streets and corners in the city and these will form a part of the firemen's benefit performances. The machine which will be used for taking the pictures will be the new and improved one recently purchased by Messrs. Huebner and Louthain. The local views shown here recently were taken with inadequate apparatus and were merely experimental. The firemen received no part of the proceeds from them.

STATEMENT ABOUT RE-MARKABLE TONIC

Pittsburg Man Speaks of Tona Vita and Its Splendid Effect.

Among many statements recently made by prominent Pittsburgers in connection with "Tona Vita," the remarkable new tonic which is now being sold for the first time in Janesville by the Smith Drug Company, is the following by Daniel T. Coffey, a news dealer and select commission man from the Third ward, Pittsburg. Mr. Coffey says:
"The nature of my business frequently necessitates irregularity with sleep and eating. As a result, I was recently attacked with bad headaches and disorders of the digestive organs. My head and stomach gave me considerable trouble. I also found it hard to get as much rest from my sleep as I ought to get. I would become fatigued more readily than during my previous good health and it was difficult to get relief. I had tried other means to restore me to my normal condition without result. When a friend suggested that I try a bottle of 'Tona Vita,' I took his advice and am glad I did. My appetite improved immediately. My headaches became less frequent and finally disappeared. My stomach is now in perfect condition."

"I consider 'Tona Vita' about the best tonic I ever used, and am pleased to have this opportunity of recommending it to my friends, or anyone who might be in need of a preparation of this sort to build up the system, or correct the effects of any irregularities which may interfere with his health. It made me eat and sleep better than I had eaten and slept for a long time, and after taking it I got more benefit from food and rest than I ever got before. Judging from my experience, I regard 'Tona Vita' as the best of all medicines."
No name in the state of Pennsylvania stands higher for honesty and integrity than that of Daniel T. Coffey. He has been true to every trust reposed in him and is considered a man of sound judgment. Mr. Coffey was a victim of nervous debility, and "Tona Vita" means a positive relief from this complaint. Nervous debility is produced in thousands by the strain of modern methods of living. Chief among the symptoms are: Lack of energy, stomach trouble, nervousness, depression of spirits, little vitality, headaches, dull pain in the back, poor circulation, cold feet, dizzy spells and unsteady sleep.
Lee's Rhubarb Laxative, the attendant remedy, is indispensable, as it overcomes chronic constipation. It is a good laxative for children.

Makes Collieries Safer.
 A new safeguard for collieries is offered by the discovery of Prof. Elster and Geitel that firelamp contains six or seven times as much radium emanation as the ordinary air of coal mines. An aluminum foil-electroscope quickly shows the difference of electrical conductivity due to the emanation, and this simple apparatus becomes an effective and important means of detecting danger.

Don't Let Old Age Come.
 Let us have a movement against mental surrender to old age at any time. Such a movement would make for sane moderation in all things, a cheerful spirit, appreciation of the joy and delight of living. Such a movement would dwell on the marvels and beauties of nature and the great possibilities of good in the lowest of men.

Pottery Art Old in Mexico.
 The pottery industry in Mexico, writes Special Agent Arthur B. Butman, is of ancient origin, having been handed down from father to son from time immemorial. Excavations among the prehistoric ruins of Mitla have resulted in the unearthing of many specimens of this handicraft, the designs of which are reproduced to this day.

WEATHER BUREAU
WILLIS L. MOORE, Chief.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.
 A storm moving northward along the Atlantic coast, and has been attended by heavy rains from Florida to New York. The rainfalls over one inch were at Tampa 2.80, Charleston 1.04, Raleigh 1.78, Washington 1.00, Pittsburgh 1.82, Buffalo 1.60. Another disturbance is moving eastward through Ontario, and is attended by a barometric trough that extends southward over the plains. This has been accompanied by light rains in the Dakotas, and light snow in Wyoming. The weather is generally fair in the South and Southwest. In this vicinity the weather will probably be cloudy, with showers tonight of Thursday. It will be warmer tonight, but colder by Thursday afternoon.

To Attract Providence.
 On a particularly blustery March morning, the story goes, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell walked round the Philadelphia city hall square with a young editor. As the two men held on their hats and leaned against the blast Dr. Mitchell said: "I think a shorn lamb should be kept tethered here, don't you? Providence then might be induced to temper the wind."

Kipping Wisdom.
 For only women understand children thoroughly; but if a mere man keeps very quiet, and humbles himself properly and refrains from talking down to his superiors, the children will sometimes be good to him and let him see what they think about the world.

THE CONQUEROR.

It's easy to laugh when the skies are blue

And the sun is shining bright;

Yes, easy to laugh when your friends are true

And there's happiness in sight;

But when hope has fled and the skies are gray,

And the friends of the past have turned away,

Ah, then indeed, it's a hero's feat

To conjure a smile in the face of defeat.

It's easy to laugh when the storm is o'er

And your ship is safe in port;

Yes, easy to laugh when you're on the shore

Secure from the tempest's sport;

But when wild waves wash o'er the storm-swept deck

And your gallant ship is a battered wreck,

Ah, that is the time when it's well worth while

To look in the face of defeat with a smile.

It's easy to laugh when the battle's fought

And you know that the victory's won;

Yes, easy to laugh when the prize you sought

Is yours when the race is run;

But here's to the man who can laugh when the blast

Of adversity blows, he will conquer at last.

For the hardest man in the world to beat

Is the man who can laugh in the face of defeat.—(Emil Carl Aulin.)

The man who meets adversity with a smiling face is the exception, and we rare that he is always an object of interest. The most of us are never quite so happy as when regarding our friends with a story of how bad we feel, forgetful of the fact that more than likely the listener is in worse condition than we are.

Some people indulge in all the diseases to which humanity is heir, and enjoy nothing more than expelling their trouble. A man who is deaf and blind came into the office a time ago and said, through an interpreter, "I'm all right today; how are you?" There was nothing the matter with him but blindness and deafness, and his faculty ties of mind and heart were so bright that his misfortunes were of minor importance. It pays to walk on the sunny side of the street and look on the bright side of life.

THE WATER WORKS.

The question of whether or not the city shall buy the water works plant was fully launched at the first meeting of the Twilight club, last night, and will be the topic of general discussion until settled by a vote of the people.

That sentiment is divided on the proposition was apparent last evening and while in the first flush of enthusiasm the masses may favor it, as time advances and the plan, considered from various angles, the subsequent thought of the people may exert an influence against the project.

That there are two sides to every question was brought out in the discussion last night. The mayor, who presided at the meeting, is an enthusiastic supporter of the plan, and the speakers who favored it were equally enthusiastic. Their arguments were supplemented by figures from other cities where municipal ownership prevails, and where the water plant seemed to be a veritable gold mine.

The little audience was carried away with the glowing pictures presented, and the impression seemed to prevail that if the city owned the water works, water would be as free as air, and yet a great revenue producer for the public treasury.

When the other side of the question was brought out by discussion, a change of sentiment occurred, and when Mr. Sutherland suggested that before the city seriously considered buying a public utility it might be well to know what it was buying, as depreciation was constantly going on, the suggestion seemed worthy of consideration.

His reference to the unbusinesslike methods of the city in handling the stone crusher, and the streets, also gained recognition that possibly the average common council was not a good manager of large business enterprises.

Mr. Wheeler of Deloit was present by invitation. His long experience in constructing water plants led him to believe that the city should buy the Janesville system, but before taking action he advised that other cities which owned plants be visited and the question studied at close range. There will be ample time to do this, and when the time comes to vote on the question, it is safe to assume that the voters will be well informed.

HEARSAY CHARGES.

After the examination of Senator Blaine, the man who preferred the charges against Senator Stephenson, in the legislature, Senator Ioyburn said: "Somebody must sustain these charges or they will fall flat." Mr. Blaine had admitted that he had no personal knowledge of what he was talking about. The Chicago Inter Ocean, in commenting on the farce, says:

"So far as we can see the sole facts so far brought out by the Wisconsin investigation are that Mr. Stephenson spent $107,793 in a campaign for the senatorship, as a result of which campaign he was elected. And even these facts were not brought out by the investigation. They were of record and undoubted long before the investigation began.

"Now, of course, $107,793 is a lot of money. In the old days when we had representative government of parties there were few states or none in which such expenditure by one candidate in one campaign was ever dreamed of.

"But times are different now. We are now subject to that enormously expensive political method, the direct primary. To become really known and thought about at all over any wide area, a candidate must spend much time or money, or both.

"The real question in the Stephenson case is: Did Mr. Stephenson, or his lieutenants for him, spend $107,793 to buy votes, or just to buy publicity—to stimulate public attention—in advertising?

"He avers the latter, and so do his lieutenants. To upset that averment there must be more than gossip, hearsay, barroom scandal and disappointed ambition's cries of grief. There must be concrete evidence.

"To hold otherwise—to assume that it can be otherwise—is not to pass judgment as fair-minded men. It is to convict a man of crime without proof of guilt."

Lorimer, Stephenson and Hines seem to be the triple alliance that is just now interesting the investigating committee, and the Chicago Tribune. It is a strong combination, financially, and the "greatest newspaper in the world" will find no trouble in entertaining its constituency for months to come.

Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson, addressed the Brewers' convention in Chicago today, in spite of vicious protests from church people in all parts of the country. Mr. Wilson claims that the intelligent cultivation of rye and barley is important, recognizing the crop as an innocent cereal rather than a device of the evil one.

The investigation of Senator Stephenson is developing into a farce. The committee has discovered that the primary law is a bid for easy money, and that the limit of investment is determined by the size of the roll.

The progressive organization has been transformed and is now a full-fledged booster for the senator Wisconsin senator. It will attempt to swallow the republican party next June.

Be a booster and buy it in Janesville.

THE WEATHER FOR SUNDAY.

(From our own private bureau, just northeast of the washstand.)
Fair, but cloudy all day. Great humidity attended by freezing temperatures, high northwest winds and snow or maybe rain, or maybe neither. The low pressure will be severely felt in the region of the change pocket.

Warmer and falling temperature. Hatter in eastern portions, hotter in northern portions, hotter in western portions, hotter in southern portions and hotter than a Calcutta idea of the future right here, unless it should be colder. High sales and continued calm, with a few clouds, those hiring cowboys had best take our warning and bring them back or they will be pinched. The drought will continue with heavy torrential rains.

C. This is the only publication that Miss Perkins has not written for. Her work seems to have gone over the heads of all the other editors.

There is three feet of water in the basement of William Purdy's general store and fishin' through the knotholes in the floor is all the rage. Grandpa Libbins has caught one rubber boot and a second-hand zinc washboard.

William Purdy, the grocery dealer, who doesn't advertise in the home paper, has had his whiskers shaved off. He sold them to a plaster contractor in the city, three friends having went forward yesterday.

Miss Lulla Botta is using her high school diploma for a hat at this writing. It makes a very neat hat and we must again remark that education is one of the most useful and valuable assets a young person can have.

J. Wellington Botta has given up his plan to locate down to the city, and has accepted a lucrative position as floor-walker in Amos Botta's livery stable. Old Lafa Tubbs is a regular end seat boy. Three women fell over him trying to get into the amen corner in the U. B. church last Sunday.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

It is cabled from England that the authorities of the English church will attempt to "revise the Ten Commandments."

Rather startling?
And probably a mistake.
It may only be that the language in which the Decalogue is contained is to be revised so that the meaning is plainer.

Learned men have made a number of verbal changes in the text of both the Old and the New Testaments that are acceptable—revised versions of the original text. But—

Any proposed change of the significance of the Moral commandments is as absurd as a change in the law of gravity, and all Christendom would protest against it.

Says the old negro melody, and it voices the sentiment of the religious world:

"The old time religion,
And it's good enough for me."

Note this, however:
The Ten Commandments are not good because they are old. On the contrary, they are old because they are good.

And—
The commandments are not good because they are in the Bible. They are in the Bible because they are good. Some things are basic.

As Daniel Webster pointed out in his great speech, the Ten Commandments, together with the Sermon on the Mount, are the fundamentals upon which all our laws and all our morals are based.

The Decalogue is organic.
We sometimes call the constitution of the United States or of the state "organic law." In a sense they are organic, but they can be changed. But you cannot change moral laws. They are fundamental, like the laws of mathematics.

They are primary laws.
Two and two are four, and it must be so.

If you try to make two and two three you go into bankruptcy. If you try to make two and two five you go to the penitentiary.

Just so of the moral commandments. They are unchangeable and fundamental, immutable, inviolable.

The old time commandments are good enough for me.

Heat Melts Glaciers.

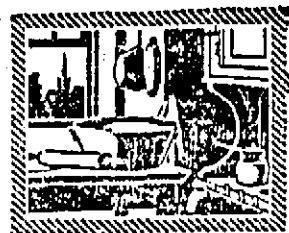

The great and continued heat of this summer has had a visible effect even upon the highest mountains in Switzerland, France and Italy. Guides and alpinists report that ice centuries old and probably never before seen by man is now exposed to view and is being penetrated and melted by the sun's heat for the first time in Alpine history. Small glaciers have disappeared and large ones have shrunk.

This phenomenon is especially noticeable in the Alps of Savoy, Valais and parts of the Bernese Oberland, while the level of the summit of Mont Blanc is lowered several yards. In the rock mountains, such as the Matterhorn and the Aiguilles of Mont Blanc, the melting of the old ice between the fissures and crevasses is causing dangerous avalanches of stone and boulders.

The rivers fed by glaciers are very high, but the others are at an unusually low level.

Goes 30 Miles to School.

Going thirty miles a day to attend school is a part of the work of Karl Dalrymple of this county, who is taking advantage of the Barnes high school law and attending the high school at Salina. The young man lives fifteen miles northeast of this city.

He makes the trip back and forth on a motorcycle. He started the first day, last Monday, and declares he will not miss a day unless he is ill. Young Dalrymple helps milk the cows both morning and evening and does the other chores about the farm. He leaves home about 5:30 o'clock, and so far has not been tardy. School begins at 9 o'clock. He frequently makes the fifteen miles in twenty minutes, but does this only when the roads are good. He has never consumed as much as thirty minutes on the road. The boy is sixteen years old and has passed through the graded schools in the country district where he lives. The Salina high school is the nearest school of the kind in his home—Salina correspondent, Kansas City Star.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE WORLD'S NEWS

BASEBALL IN PARTICULAR ATTRACTS MANY TO THE GAZETTE OFFICE THESE DAYS.

MANY 'PHONE CALLS

Excellent News Service of the Gazette Gives Its Readers Full Details of the Day's Happenings

During the past few days, since the world's series for baseball has started, the calls and box orders for the Gazette have been very much increased. The telephone calls have been very much increased, and the number of calls from the outside has been very much increased. The Gazette has been very much interested in the baseball game, and the number of calls from the outside has been very much increased.

The Associated Press, the greatest news gathering syndicate in America, of which the Gazette is a member, has furnished the news of the ball games, play by play, each day. It has been furnished from the ball parks in New York and Philadelphia by a special wire, via the Postal Telegraph company to the Gazette, and from this office sent out to the various Gazette bulletins boards throughout the city, as well as posted on the bulletin board at the Gazette office.

Despite this fact, telephone calls have been frequent, and especially from out of the city, and from different parts of the country. The reason for this is that the Gazette has been very much interested in the baseball game, and the number of calls from the outside has been very much increased.

Another feature of the Gazette that is apparently much appreciated by farmers and stock buyers is the market report. The market report is received each morning about eleven o'clock and it is not infrequently that a half dozen stock men will call up to know how the prices on hogs, cattle or sheep are running. The wheat and grain market is received after the close, about two o'clock, and is also closely watched by the Gazette readers.

The local markets are changed daily. The wholesale market giving the prices for the products brought into the city for sale and the retail market showing the housewife what is on the market and the average prices. One does not have what prices are; it is all in your evening paper. The telephone market is received over the telephone from the United Press. The Gazette also being a subscriber to this news service as well as the Associated Press.

Much interest in the affairs in China has also demonstrated and the Associated Press wire reports are supplemented by the telephone reports from the United Press. The reports are accurate and one does not have to wait until the next day for the results in this far off section of the globe. It can be read at the supper table or after supper.

The state news is also an important feature and comes fresh from the wire to the readers of the Gazette each evening. The United Press has correspondents in every city of any consequence in the state and all the latest news is telephoned to the Milwaukee office and from there sent to the Gazette office over the P. N. D. service telephone which has a direct wire connection between the Milwaukee office of the United Press and the Gazette on a special leased wire.

This report is taken by a capable stenographer directly onto the typewriter and is ready to go into the printers' hands a few minutes after being received. In all, something like twenty-one hundred words a day are taken over this telephone which with the Associated Press telegraphic reports give the Gazette the best news service of the world in general possible.

The news of the county and rural communities is cared for by a corps of over a hundred correspondents who go both the telephone and the mail to forward their news to the Gazette. There are also special features which appear daily in the Gazette for all classes of readers. The Woman's Page, the children's page with its special features, the weather map furnished by the United States weather bureau daily, showing the weather for the past twenty-four hours and the weather for the next twenty-four, the general department and the general city news.

The columns of the Gazette are also made more interesting by the use of pictures illustrating the events in the world at large, furnished by the North American Syndicate, of which the Gazette is a member, holding an exclusive franchise and by local views are taken by the staff photographer and developed in the Gazette's photographic department as soon as possible after being taken. The columns of the Gazette are always open for the discussion of matters pertaining to the public welfare, and the Gazette management only insists that the name of the writer must accompany each article.

High School Students Are Snapped by Camera This Morning Three Times.

Moving pictures were taken this morning of a fire-drill conducted at the local high school. At the opening of school Prof. Buell gave minute directions to the students, regarding the manner of exit. This was made necessary by the fact that in the usual drill the three exits are used, but for the benefit of the pictures only one was used.

The students formed in two columns of four on the lower floor. One column went down the right stairway while the other used the left stairs. At the main entrance the two columns joined and a column of eight issued from the building. They advanced to the walk where they divided into two columns of four again, one going to the right and the other to the left. Then the right and left columns returned to the building through the south and north entrances respectively.

Again the lines formed in the halls as before, and after the camera had been shifted to another angle the drill was repeated. The camera was shifted a third time and the drill was given again. At the end of the drill the students returned to their work and a picture was taken of the main room as it is in the third period.

In Ecco, Sunburst and Evergreen Flour the wheat has all been washed in pure artesian water, then dried and brushed until it is absolutely clean.

This process means even more than cleanliness, for in washing all immature and lifeless kernels are floated away. How can you help having better results in baking, and sweeter, whiter and more wholesome bread when such care and effort is spent in the milling.

WRITES OF WORK AT A NAVAL HOSPITAL

MISS MARY HUMPHREY IS NOW STATIONED AT MARE ISLAND, CALIFORNIA.

INTERESTING PICTURE

Tells of the Hospital Work and the Manner in Which Things Are Conducted in Naval Circles.

In the following letter written by Miss Mary Humphrey of this city to relatives here, the writer tells of the interesting life at the big naval hospital at Mare Island, California, where she is now stationed. The letter is as follows:

U. S. Naval Hospital,
Mare Island, Cal.,
October 8, 1911.

It is Sunday again. The weeks pass by so quietly that I have hardly time to notice them. I don't know why the time passes so swiftly since coming here, unless I am more occupied here and work longer hours than I did in Cavite. Here it is four o'clock before I reach the hotel after going off duty and by the time we play tennis for an hour and take a bath, it is time to dress for dinner, and so the day is gone. The evenings are spent in reading. It is fortunate that I have no time to do for there would be no time for me to do it in, unless I cut out playing tennis and that would be unfortunate as we need much outdoor exercise after being shut in eight hours with sick people.

I enjoy tennis more than any game
I ever played, as it exercises every bone in the body and develops skill, agility and accuracy in a marked degree.

The linen room, where I am still holding forth when on duty, is opposite the lock ward where the sick prisoners are cured for. The navy prison, known as "84", that being the number of the building, is located between the hospital and the dock, so we pass it every day in going from and to the hospital. Two prisoners in "84" are navy men only, who have committed some official offense, not necessarily a crime. There are always a large number of deserters, and they are always sentenced to eighteen months or two years in a navy prison.

Many others are imprisoned for insubordination to officers and some of the men have committed criminal offenses. When any of the prisoners get sick or are in need of an operation, they are brought to the hospital and placed in the lock ward.
This ward has iron grillings on the windows and doors and the doors are always kept locked.

At present there are five in this ward, three of whom are deserters and two others who are in for embezzlement. Three of these are interesting characters.

One, a marine, deserted when the Pacific fleet went south at the time of the recent Mexican trouble, and joined the Mexican army and was made general. But his career as general was short as he was soon captured and brought back to Mare Island where he was court martialed and sentenced to eighteen months in "84". He saw active service in the Mexican ranks and received a gunshot wound in the left leg. It was necessary to admit him to the hospital at once. That was over a year ago and he is still a patient.

The wound will not heal for some reason. The poor fellow was a pitiful sight when he arrived at the hospital and he had received no care while on shipboard and was horribly abused because he was a deserter. The men when passing this bunk would raise the wounded man and let it fall just to hear him cry out in agony. He was almost insane with fear and suffering when he reached the hospital. It took the nurses several days to win his confidence so that he wouldn't scream with fear when they went to dress his wound. Now he is the most grateful fellow I have ever seen for the care which the nurses have given him. A marine corporal takes him out on the grounds every day for a few hours and he likes to tell the corporal about the goodness of the nurse compared with the hard treatment received at the hands of the hospital apprentices and the doctors on shipboard.

Another of the patients in the lock ward is a man in middle life, who has been in the government service many years. At San Diego recently he went ashore with some of the ship's money to pay some bills, as he was a petty officer. He got drunk and spent all the ship's money. When he sobered up and found the money gone he went straight to his commanding officer and confessed his guilt and gave himself up. He was court martialed and was sent to "84"
for several months.

The discipline in "84" is very rigid and no newspapers or magazines are permitted in the prison. A prisoner cannot speak with a guard without first raising his right hand and receiving permission from said guard.
This man, above spoken of, was a great reader and was an all around good man or he would not have given himself up like he did. He was operated upon for hernia and will be kept in the hospital just as long as possible to shorten his jail sentence.

The third one is a really bad man.
He has been in the army with a criminal record and then attempted to join the marine corps, but before he had received his uniform he committed embezzlement and has been in "84" over since. He had hemorrhoids and had to be operated upon, but so bad was his record, that word was sent with him not to permit a nurse to go with him into the lock ward and to always have a guard with him and at the door when anyone entered the ward. This was faithfully carried out until he was operated upon, when it was not necessary. He is now all ready to be taken back to "84" but he dreads to go back. Being thrown under our care has made a different man of him. At first he was terribly profane, but I spoke kindly, yet firmly, to him about refraining from the use of it and I have not heard an oath since.

Yesterday morning I picked snapdragons in the hospital yard before going in, and gave him a few. His face lit up when I handed them to him and he has them there beside him on his locker. Many times during the day I

RETAILERS ARE TO DECIDE QUESTION
Relative to Increase the Trade of the Local Stores Offering Rebates
To Shoppers.

One of the questions to be discussed at the meeting of the Janesville Retailers Association this evening at the Eagle's hall, is that of arranging for a system of rebates for purchasers who come from out of the city to shop in Janesville. This will take the form of a refunding the railway fare or part of it, to all who purchase a certain amount of goods in the city. This and other important matters will be decided at the meeting this evening at which it is hoped there will be a full attendance.

Painful Accident.
Little Alfred Paulson, the two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Paulner placed his hand on the stick of wood just as the saw came down, and cut the little finger on his right hand

until the end hung by a little flesh.
Dr. Thomas dressed the hand and sowed on the digit. He is hoping to save it.

Lorenzo A. Salisbury.
Lorenzo A. Salisbury passed away yesterday afternoon at his home three

He was also a great sufferer from cancer on his face, but with all his terrible afflictions he bore it cheerfully and patiently.

To Many People, Madam,
Coffee is Just Coffee

But to you, Madam, who are particular and to us as coffee experts, there is a decided difference in coffee.
QUALITY is the one essential.
The color and the size of the bean has little to do with that.

Expert knowledge regarding coffee quality, expert roasting, coffee blending is of prime importance.

We have the expert knowledge.
We also have the result of that expert knowledge—
"Regal Blend" coffee—a coffee that acknowledges no

MOST CERTAIN WAY TO END A BAD COLD

Surely breaks the most severe cold and ends Grippe misery in just a few hours.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

You distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable grippe symptoms leaving after the very first dose. It promptly ends the most miserable headache, neuralgia pains, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, fever, lassitude, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research and a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no opium, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

PRICE ON NEW SPUDS ABOVE THAT OF 1910

That of a Year Ago the First of October, Far Above. This Year's—Honduras Oranges on Market.

Despite the scare about the potato crop being short this year, the price has come down to within a few cents of the price they were bringing at this time last year. On October 1, 1910, potatoes were wholesaling at from 75 to 85 cents a bushel, in comparison with the 55 to 65 cents of 1911. New potatoes are to be had almost everywhere for 50 cents a bushel retail and almost any quantity in for sale.
Many people are taking advantage of the large supply to put in their winter supply, as the prices will probably remain the same from now on, owing to the fact that most of the crop has already been harvested and an increase of the supply is not likely.
Honduras oranges have arrived and are selling for 50 cents a dozen. All other prices remain the same for today.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor:
I am informed that it was stated in your columns last evening that there were but three members of the Fire Police present at the fire in the second ward on Monday afternoon. This is incorrect and whoever is authority for the statement either maliciously lied about the facts or did so unintentionally. There were six members of the Fire Police present at the fire and furthermore the fire was under control before the chief arrived and "broke" his chemical for which there was no need. These facts can be substantiated and I wish you would give it the same publicity you did the other items. While we are on the subject I would like to ask you, when a recent fire alarm was turned in from the Thoroughbred factory was the West Side department called out and the East Side firemen located but a few hundred yards from the scene of the possible blaze, not called out and forced to sit and watch the Chief and his men from the West Side station so by their engine house while they remained inactive. If it had been a fire that amounted to anything would it not have been policy to call the nearest department. FAIR PLAY.
To the Editor:

It is reported that there is a lecturer in a five cent theatre in this city who for the sake of a few dimes receives each night for his "patter" is deliberately lying about former President Roosevelt and the part he took in the battle of San Juan hill during the Cuban campaign. The lecturer said that Roosevelt was also miles in the rear eating watermelon when the fight took place. This is a lie. I was in Cuba at the time of the battle and know that Roosevelt was with his troops fighting the Spaniards, personally directing the charge at the right of the line. Such lying statements should give the so called lecturer at least "thirty days" and I suggest his story be investigated and he be forced to stop maligning Colonel Roosevelt and the men who took part in the Cuban campaign. I was in the government mail service at the time and saw part of the battle at San Juan through field glasses and know the truth of my statements.

ADJUSTS ALL CASES BROUGHT BEFORE HIM

Judge Sale Adjusts All Cases Brought Before Him for Hearing Yesterday.

For the first time during his career as county judge, Judge Sale completely cleaned the calendar in adjusting all cases brought before him yesterday, it being Tuesday. As the judge has filed the office of county judge for a term of twenty-five years and has never had an incident like this happen to him, it is most interesting. Eighteen cases of various kinds were brought to his attention and the entire calendar was put out of the way before the day had closed.
Term day in county court comes the first and third Tuesday of each month, excepting the months of July and August, and is set by statute. The following cases were heard and decided yesterday:
Estate of J. M. Hostetler; Convoyance of certain lots to J. W. Keithley, ordered.
Estate of George T. Palmerton; Claims heard and judgment filed.
Estate of Adeline D. Truman; Judgment of no claims filed.

DRUG TALK WORTH READING

The high price of crude rubber of the last years has brought out adulterations of rubber goods. White rubber bags and syringes are loaded with white lead, the red rubber goods are artificially colored with mercury oxide, a strong poison. Hot water left in these bags becomes impregnated with mercury, then used as a douche may cause serious inflammation.

The cheap rubber goods are sold mostly outside of drug stores to merchants that do not understand the chemical nature of the goods they sell, therefore do great harm to the public through a lack of knowledge.

Think of your baby nursing a nipple adulterated with lead or mercury. Possibly his bowel and stomach trouble could be traced to this cause. Our rubber goods are purchased by Mr. Pennick, a graduate pharmacist and chemist. They are therefore safe to use. We guarantee good wear. Our prices are always fair. Water lines up. Syringes, 50¢ to $3.00. Consultation—day and evening—$1.50. Indigo Drug Co., Cor. Milwaukee and River Sts. The drug store that makes a specialty of drugs.

Eye and Nose Troubles Yield to Chiropractic

There are any number of people going about with poor eyesight. They might just as well see perfectly as not. There are also any number of folks who are wearing glasses that do not require them. There are any number of people who have constant headaches, who are troubled with lame back and who might just as well be free from these aches and pains as not.

A MISPLACED VERTEBRA WILL WEAKEN THE EYE, CAUSE HEADACHE OR GIVE CONSTANT LAME BACK.

Chiropractic Adjustments put the bones back in place, relieve the pinch on the nerves and permit nature to make you well.

READ THIS CAREFULLY, YOU PARENTS.
A young girl from a near by city, was brought to us for adjustment. In fact, her nose troubled her to such an extent as to make breathing difficult, she was afflicted with adenoids and slept restlessly. After we had adjusted the subluxations of her vertebrae for a month and a half the adenoids came away from the nose in her handkerchief. Adenoids will not form in a body with a perfect spine, they are but the indication of disease.

STOVE BUYER WARNINGS

Caution
ASK for the book on "The Only Safe Way to Buy Stoves and Ranges." As a matter of simple justice to the public, we, as agents of the largest makers of stoves and ranges in the world, give here, and in this special book, the facts about mail-order stove buying. We wish it understood that we are not fighting any Mail-Order Stove Concern. We aim our blow at the system, where the buyer takes great chances of getting his money's worth.

Consider carefully the questions involved in the purchase of a stove or range, which must either give years of day-to-day service and satisfaction or prove an absolutely worthless investment.

Risks of Mail-Order Stove Buying

1—Quality!
No matter how attractive an stove, however low, can justify the purchase of a stove or range sold by mail-order. Never buy by mail-order of a stove or range unless you are sure of the quality. Experience, skill, science and plain, midwestern honesty in materials and workmanship must all be brought into the stove or range before it has the quality that will stand the test of years.

2—Guarantee!
You get no guarantee of quality when you buy Garland Stoves or Ranges, is based on forty years

3—Bargains!
Every stove or range sold by mail is (on paper) the "greatest bargain ever offered." "There's a magic in the word 'bargain'—it is one of the biggest assets of the mail-order system of stove selling.

4—Delays!
If you buy a stove or range by mail, you run the risk of disappointment. In fact, instances are on record where the mail-order stove buyer waited six months for delivery.

5—"Knock-Down" Stoves!
No mail-order stove is shipped set up. The stove must be taken apart, then shipped, and then put back together again. In many cases, the stove is shipped in pieces, and the buyer is left to put it together.

6—"Money Back!"
We do not question the good faith of mail-order stove concerns who offer "money back" if their stove or range, after 30 days from trial, fails to give satisfaction.

7—"The Best Way!"
A good dealer, right in your home town, who has been in the stove business for many years, who is thoroughly interested in getting you full value and lifetime satisfaction.

As there were no contests for offices on the state ticket the work of the convention was speedily accomplished. Governor Aram J. Pothier was renominated amid great enthusiasm. Lieutenant Governor Zenas W. Bliss and other leading state officials were likewise renominated. The platform declares in favor of reciprocity and the principles of protection as enunciated in the last national platform of the republican party. Endurance of Butterflies.

Countess von Linden is publishing in the "Biologisches Centralblatt" the very interesting results of her remarkable researches regarding the endurance of hunger among butterflies. She finds that one of these animals may live for 17 days without food, having lost in the meantime two-thirds of its initial weight; whereas birds and small mammals die in nine days, losing in weight only from one-fifth to two-fifths.

American Woman in German Eyes.

American girls, whether born or merely brought up in America, evidence the same independence of judgment and the same complete self-reliance. It is hard to say whether this is the result of the education in the public schools and colleges or in their freedom from that condition of legal and social subservience to which the gentler sex is doomed in older countries.—Max von Brandt in Berlin Deutsche Review.

Slander is a Restless Evil.

Slander is a restless evil, which disturbs society, spreads dissension through cities and countries, dissuades the strictest friendship; is the source of hatred and revenge; fills, wherever it enters, with disturbances and confusion, and everywhere is an enemy to peace, comfort and Christian good breeding.—Jean Baptiste Massillon.

Was Instructor to King Carlos.

Miss Mary Woodman of Woburn, Mass., was instructor to the late King Carlos of Portugal in English, history and painting. She has in her possession a number of mementoes given her by the family, and when she left Portugal she was promised a title of nobility should she ever return.

FAMOUS AMERICAN INDIANS ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE RED JACKET.

A tall stately young Seneca—Sagoyewatha by name—was the fleetest runner among the Indian scouts employed by the British in the revolutionary war. He was tireless and covered long stretches of rough forest country with marvelous speed. A British officer toward the end of the revolution gave Sagoyewatha a castoff uniform jacket, brilliant scarlet and faced with gold braid. The gift was a prize for running.

Sagoyewatha's barbaric soul rejoiced at so gaudy a garment. He wore it day and night until it was in shreds. And thereby he won for himself the nickname by which he is best known to history—"Red Jacket."

Red Jacket was a strange man. Even his own people did not know whether to despise or honor him. In battle he was a coward. In council he was a genius. He was at once a patriot and a low politician; a reformer and a crook; a friend to the white men and their bitter foe. His eloquence could sway a whole Indian "nation." He could plan inspired campaigns of war or diplomacy. Yet he shrank from fighting and often failed to live up to his own teachings. He sought to turn the Indians from drunkenness, etc. Yet he died an imbecile drunkard.

The Man of Many Natures.

Red Jacket was born near Geneva, N. Y., in 1751, and succeeded the great Brant as chief of the Wolf tribe of the Seneca "nation." Brant despised him for his cowardice, and in contempt nicknamed him "The Cow Killer." Yet within a few years Red Jacket became the foremost man in the mighty "Six Nations," talking his way to supremacy among a people who admired deeds rather than words. When the revolution broke out he and his people espoused the British cause. It was as a forest runner and scout for the English officers, rather than as a warrior, that Red Jacket distinguished himself during the revolutionary years.

In 1784 a conference was held at Fort Stanwix to discuss a treaty between the Six Nations and the United States. Red Jacket argued fiercely against such a treaty, and used all his wonderful eloquence to avert it. Yet, when he failed and the treaty was ratified, he promptly threw his influence upon the other side and rendered the country such good service among his own people that in 1793 the president conferred upon him a huge silver medal. This medal represented George Washington and Red Jacket smoking the pipe of peace together. The glitter of the silver and the picture of himself on terms of equality with Washington so tickled the Indian's vanity and love of display that he henceforth wore the medallion until the day of his death. It was his dearest treasure.

Red Jacket gave far more than "value received" for the Washington medal. For, when Tecumseh strove to rouse the various Indian tribes against the white men it was he who learned of the plot and notified the government. His tidings did much to help Uncle Sam check this wholesale conspiracy. Soon afterward, at the beginning of the war of 1812 with England, he and the Senecas cast in their lot with the United States. In council and in secret service rather than in fighting Red Jacket was of tremendous assistance to the government throughout that conflict, though his admirers claim that in the battle near Fort George, on the Niagara boundary line, in 1813, he did valiant work.

In spite of all these proofs of devotion to the government he hated all white men. Had he been able he would have rid the land of them. He could not be induced to embrace any of the habits of civilization. He not only refused to become a Christian but was the sworn enemy of the missionaries who were sent to his people.

A Fight Against Progress.

To the last he held to the old religion, dress, language and ways of his savage ancestors, and strove to prevent his followers from adopting white men's customs. The only change he himself made from the primitive Indian life was in learning to drink whiskey.

Red Jacket was as wise as he was cowardly. He foresaw that soon or late the once powerful Indians would be crushed under the advance of Progress and would be utterly driven from the hunting grounds of their fathers. With all his cunning and ability he fought to postpone that evil day as long as possible. He tried to prevent his people from imitating the white men and thus sapping their own independence. He sought to train the young Indians to resist weakening influences of civilization.

In 1829 Red Jacket came to New York, where a noted artist painted his portrait. Thence he journeyed to Washington in behalf of his people's rights. By that time he had become a hopeless drunkard and a little later his brain gave way. He was deposed by his own tribesmen from his high office of Sachem. A mere shattered wreck of his former self, he died in Seneca Village, N. Y., on January 29, 1829.

Leaves It to His Fellow Men.

Many a man's only idea of helping his fellow man is to chip in a nickel when the plate is passed for the foreign heathen.

Great Men Unhappily Mated.

It is an unfortunate truth that in many cases the wives of great men have little or no sympathy with their husband's genius. Haydn's wife was a notable example, for she was a bad-tempered, extravagant woman, and her husband used to say she did not care whether he was a musician or a shoemaker.

Costly Parol.

A Parisian declares that $4,600 is the price one of his wife's parasols has cost him. Lately, while he was at the seaside with his wife she exclaimed: "Oh! I have left my parasol in Paris." The husband was too devoted to her to allow her to suffer in the heat, so he bought her a handsome one costing $20. After a while he reflected that $20 was a good deal for a sunshade. Then the thought flashed into his mind that perhaps he might refund it at the Casino, and so to the Casino he went. He was lucky enough to win $15 at the first go. But this did not satisfy him. He wanted to win the $20; but instead he lost $2,000, and finally the loss totaled up to just $4,600. Then he gave up in despair. The parasol had cost him enough.

Make Valuable Discovery.

A Siberian paper states that the inhabitants of Ussky district, at the extreme north of Primorya, accidentally discovered recently in the mountains of the island of Shantar, very rich veins of iron, quartz and copper, and, in some places, sulphur. In the eastern part of the same island, close to the seashore, they also found three springs of natural mineral water. The Siberian paper in question laments that these finds count for nothing, as Russia has no capital wherewith to work them.

Money Makes Egotists.

Money is a sort of creation, and gives the acquirer even more than the possessor an imagination of his own power, and tends to make him idolize self.—Cardinal Newman.

Evidence of Ability.

"Why did you take such a grobchy fellow on your football team?" "That's why. He's such a kicker."

Congregation Still Waiting.

A preacher, after sending his hat around among the brethren and vainly urging them to contribute, clasped his hands, raised his eyes, and said: "Lord, this is the toughest crowd I have ever found. I have preached in the Black Jack neighborhood, and have ridden the Red Range circuit, but this congregation occupies a place a little further removed from the giving spirit than any people I ever saw. Amen." Then, turning to the sexton, he said: "Two two gallons of old whiskey stored away not far from here. As I don't use liquor myself, I am going to give it to some worthy man. Carry the hat around once more." The hat came back full of silver. The preacher went into the woods to look for the whiskey. Up to a few hours ago he had not returned.

Eagles Killed Fawn.

An Adirondack hunter killed an eagle recently under circumstances that have excited a good deal of interest among the woodsmen. While looking for rabbits, he saw two large birds in a tree some distance away, and supposing them to be hawks, shot the largest one, while the other flew away. When he came to pick up the bird, however, he found it to be an eagle, and on examining the bird he found the body of a fawn, just killed.

Women Not in Demand.

Mr. Arnold Shanklin, just returned from Panama, says that men who go to Panama seem to think a wife one of the first necessities, but generally they are provided with sweethearts, who either come to them properly chaperoned or they go back to the states for them. The government builds nice six-room houses for the married men, and there is a very pleasant social set being formed. He did not seem to agree with Miss Helen Varick Boswell that old maids or bachelor girls are wanted there, the inference being that the right sort of men are either married or about to be when they go to Panama.

Procrastination.

Procrastination is a habit that chills instantly. Putting off a duty is practically equivalent to performing it twice over, for the dread of it is quite as wearing as the actual work. The greatest success is attained by cultivating a plastic memory and refusing to think of a task till actually face to face with it. Then one's whole attention can be devoted to it till the thing has been completed and pushed into the background. It is the eternal dwelling upon matters that sickens the brain.

"Every Little Olive Tablet Has a Movement All Its Own"

Your doctor will tell you nearly per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Portsmouth, Ohio, perfected "Vegetable Compound mixed with olive oil, to act on the liver and bowels," which he gave to his patients for years. Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by tapping up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

"Clothcraft-Just What I Am Looking For."

THAT'S what a man said who came into our store the other day. He continued: "I have heard so much about Clothcraft Clothes that I have decided to try them, for if they can give me for $10 to $25 the quality and satisfaction for which I have always paid high prices, I might as well save the difference."

"Now, if you can show me something I like and fit me I will take a change."

We did both and something more. We easily convinced him that there was no chance or guess work about Clothcraft Clothes. How? By simply showing him the Clothcraft guaranty signed by the makers, which insures pure wool, lasting shape, satisfactory wear and service.

He could not ask for more at any price, so he bought one of our Clothcraft $18 suits, saved at least one-third and was better satisfied than he had ever been before.

Why not profit by his experience? Clothcraft Clothes are the only guaranteed all-wool line at $10 to $25.

The October Bride and Her Problems.

THE October Bride isn't bothering much about her problems. She is living in a state of beatitude, and it is rather hard-hearted to rouse her from this and point to some of the practical problems that await her. But if it is done very gently, and she faces them while still the rose-colored clouds linger, the problems may not seem so hard as if she suddenly came upon them unawares and with all the rose-light faded.

Although in many ways, the face of the world has changed with the passing of the centuries, to most young girls, marriage is still the thing of romance and illusion it has been since time began. And the experience of waking up to its stern realities is also still theirs. But neither the disappearance of its illusions nor the discovery of its realities is a serious matter in itself. Brides in uncounted numbers have weathered this test of their love, and though there may be a little ache of the heart as they see cherished dreams depart, each bride has come through the trial without discredit, and gone forward courageously to the task of being a good wife, a good mother, and a good home-maker.

But the woman of today faces these problems from a little different standpoint than did the woman of the past. And herein lies the danger to the present-day matrimonial voyage; for the trouble is that most of the brides are unconscious of the fact that they differ in some essentials from the brides of past generations. They think that because they cherish the same ideals and the same romance in regard to marriage as did their mothers and grandmothers, that they will go forward into married life with the same spirit. But in the course of a few years, they find that they have not been built of the same stuff as their feminine ancestors, and then there is apt to be trouble.

The woman of today is not the woman of fifty or a hundred years ago. For one thing, many a bride after the novelty of married life wears off, is lonely. She is in the house by herself almost all day. Her work often is not really heavy. She finds time hanging on her hands. That she might find plenty to do is not now under discussion. She comes to the point where she is lonely. Probably she has never thought of this. It is one of the results of marriage that never entered her head. But she finds it a fact.

The woman of a hundred years ago may have faced this same problem. But the girl of today faces it from a different background. The women of the past lived more isolated lives than do the women of today. And their household duties were much more numerous. And lonely or not, they had no remedy.

But the bride of today has probably been a business girl. Her day has been crowded with work. She has been surrounded with other workers. She has known the comradeship, the enthusiasm, that come from being one of a big body of workers all interested in a common cause. She feels doubly lonely and isolated. And many a new home is broken up, and the wife goes back to business from just this cause. This is one of the problems the October bride needs to face, think out, and solve.

Again the bride of today in many cases comes to her new home without the slightest knowledge of housekeeping. From school, she went into a business office. She can keep books or manage a typewriter, but she can't cook or manage a range. Bills mount up, meals are unpalatable, the house untidy. And on this rock, many a new home is wrecked.

So the October bride needs to take into account that though her romantic ideals of marriage may be the same as her grandmother's, she herself is probably not the same kind of woman as her grandmother; and that if she wants to make her married life an happy and successful as her grandmother's, she will need to master some matters that perhaps her grandmother had already mastered before she became a bride.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

YES, said the lady-who-always-knows-something, "I know that isn't fair. He shouldn't do that and it must be very irritating. But now you've told me all your wrongs and gotten them off your mind, see if you can't cheer yourself up by thinking of some of my rights."

One of the lady's young girl proteges had been telling the lady-who-always-knows-something how unreasonable and unfair her employer had been to her.

She had fulminated against his injustice in refusing to admit it when he made a grammatical mistake in dictating.

She had bitterly scolded his habit of coming to her at half-past four with half a dozen letters, when he had been sitting idle most of the afternoon.

She had raved about his rudeness in attending to his finger nails in his office, instead of the privacy of his home.

And when the lady-who-always-knows-something brought out her suggestions, her protegee looked extremely dubious.

"I don't think I have any rights," she protested.

"Oh, yes, you do," reminded the lady. "Doesn't he often give you an extra afternoon off? And doesn't he urge you to bring in a book or some fancy work to amuse yourself with when he is away? And you said yourself that lots of men wouldn't let you do that because it looks unbusinesslike."

"Yes," admitted the lady's protegee, "he is awfully good about that. And except for the finger nails, he is always very courteous to me. He never scolds and he never uses bad language in the office, as so many of the men do. And when I was sick, he was simply dandy to me."

"Don't the 'rights' pretty near balance the wrongs?" queried the lady.

"Overbalance, more likely," admitted the lady's protegee, thoughtfully.

In every relation of life—the marriage relation, the relation of servant to mistress, of pupil to teacher, of employee to employer, of sister to sister, of father to son, and all the rest—there are wrongs, or at least what seem wrongs to us, to be suffered.

But in every relation of life there are also "rights" to be rejoiced over. And, just as we remember our troubles and forget our blessings, so we seem to remember our wrongs, but forget our "rights."

Now, let's be original. The next time a sense of injustice possesses us, and we think we are unfairly treated by anyone, and start thinking of the wrongs he has done us, let's try the antidote of thinking of the rights we have received at his hands.

He has been unjust in some things, but has he not been kind and merciful far beyond the exactions of the law in many others?

In nine cases out of ten, I think we will find that he has.

Wrongs are plentiful, but so are "rights" if you only look for them. Let's.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN BY READERS

Latest Contest for Women Readers of the Gazette Will Bring Desired Results.

One grocer told the Contest Editor of the Gazette, confidentially, on Tuesday, that the housekeepers of Janesville were making numerous inquiries as to how he managed to keep his supplies of potatoes, canned goods and other winter supplies and he believed that many were planning to buy in their winter supply just because the Gazette had started the present contest.

"I had the pleasure," he stated, "of looking into the cellar of one lady's home and found that she had already prepared for her supply of potatoes, had boxes piled up for other vegetables, and who let me take a peep into her preserve closet where all the products of her summer's work were stored against need for the cold winter days. She said she always did that and seemed surprised that others did not do so."

An inquiry comes from a flat-dweller who asked what she could do to store away supplies when the cellar is too warm for such purposes and the attic not available, her pantry too small and no place also affords proper room. The only reply that can be made is to advise her to write what she would like to do and how she would do it if she could.

The contest closes November 15th. By that date all the answers must be in the hands of the Contest Editor and they will be judged immediately so as to give the winners an opportunity to secure the prizes before Thanksgiving.

Remember that the articles must be written on one side of the paper only, not over five hundred words, and mailed to the Feature Editor. The following is the list of prizes offered:

First Prize.—Set of Dishes.

Second Prize.—Half Dozen Silver Tea Spoons.

Third Prize.—Dance Courtesy Cook Book.

Fourth Prize.—Family Scales.

Fifth Prize.—Vacuum Bottle.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THOSE who live on the mountains have a longer day than those who live in the valley. Sometimes all we need to brighten our day is to rise a little higher.

SQUASH AND PUMPKIN PIES.

The old-time pumpkin had to have long, slow cooking to make a well-flavored pie; but now the little pie pumpkins cook up so quickly that the process of pie making is not so tedious.

All the moisture possible should be cooked out of the pumpkin to give it good, rich flavor. To a cup and a half of stewed and sifted pumpkin add two-thirds of a cup of brown sugar; some like a little molasses, as it gives a richer color to the pie. A teaspoonful of cinnamon, a teaspoonful of ginger, half a teaspoon of salt, two eggs and a cup and a half of milk and half a cup of cream. Mix and bake in one crust. A few drops of lemon extract added to the pie changes the flavor and adds variety.

Squash Pie.—To a fourth of a cup of sugar add a half a teaspoonful of salt, a fourth of a teaspoonful of ginger, nutmeg and cinnamon and half a teaspoonful of lemon extract. Add a cup and a fourth of stewed strained squash, an egg slightly beaten and a cup of milk added gradually. Bake in one crust. A richer pie is made by adding a cupful of squash, two eggs and half a cup each of milk and cream.

Another Recipe.—Mix a cup of stewed and strained squash or squash loaf from dinner with half a cup of sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt, two eggs, one-half teaspoon of cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon of nutmeg and a half cup of milk.

Grandmother's Pumpkin Pie.—Bake the pumpkin; boil two tablespoonfuls of raisins for half an hour, let the water boil away. Remove the seeds and add the raisins to two cups of pumpkin. Scald two cups of milk, add to the pumpkin with a quarter of a cup each of sugar and molasses, a fourth of a teaspoonful of ginger, half a teaspoon of salt and one egg. Bake in a large crust lined pie tin.

A good rich crust, for pastry is one cup of lard and butter to two of flour; add just enough ice water to roll, and the quicker the process the better the crust.

Nellie Maxwell.

Seed Cakes.

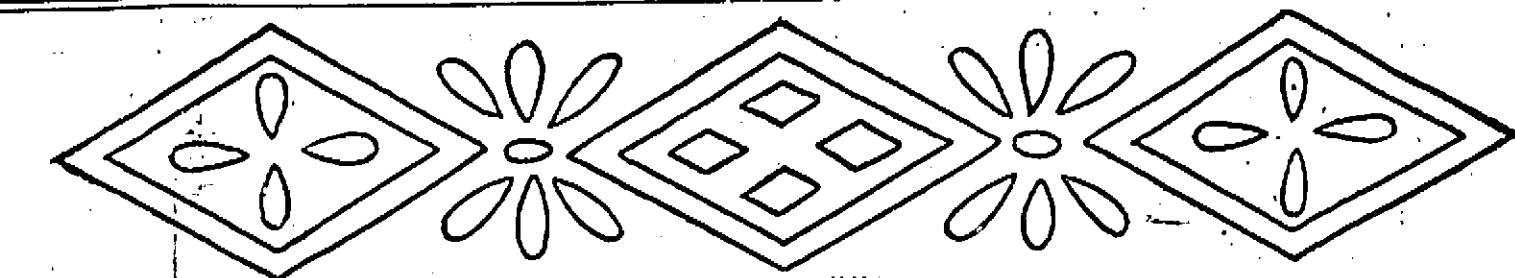

Into one quart of sifted pastry flour rub one-half cupful of butter. Add a half teaspoonful of salt, one pint of granulated or light brown sugar, and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Stir in enough sweet milk to make a soft dough. Turn on a floured board, knead lightly for a few minutes, then roll out half an inch thick. Sprinkle with caraway or other small seeds, press lightly with the pin so that they will adhere to the dough, then cut into round or square. Bake in a quick oven.

To Save the Tablecloth.

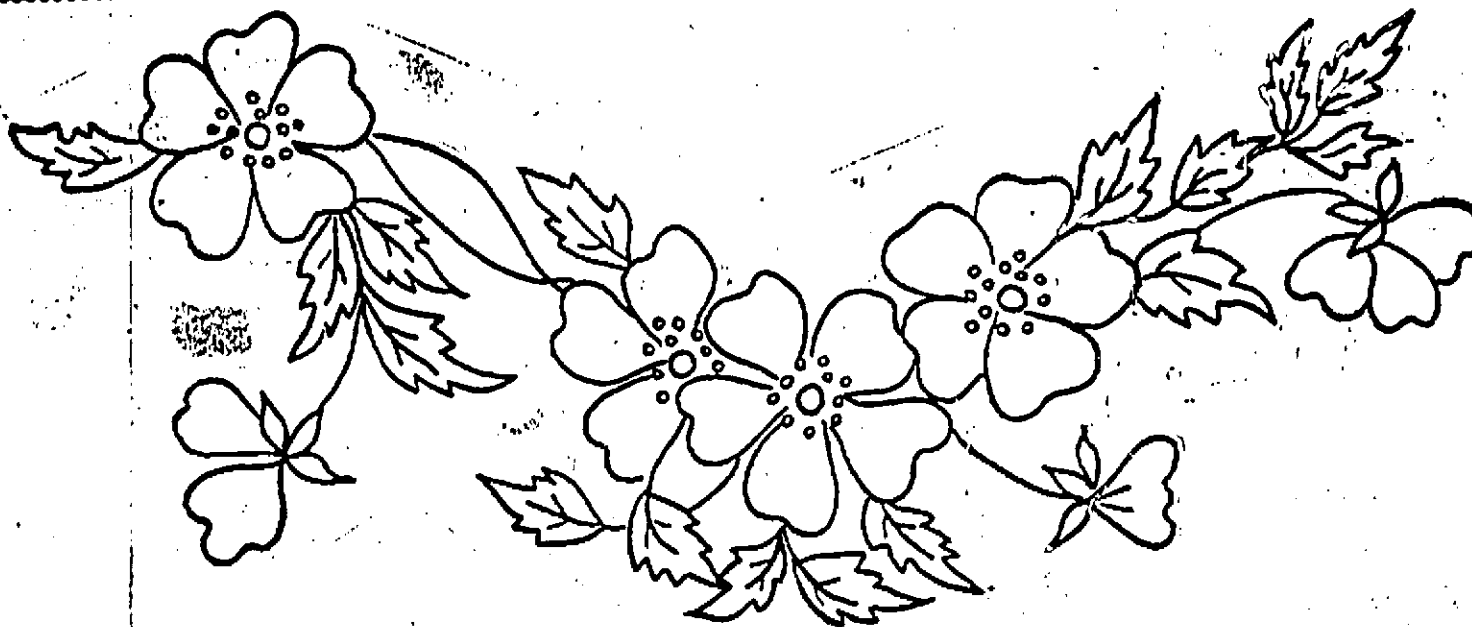

Nothing is more provoking to the careful housewife than to have a perfectly clean tablecloth liberally bespattered with gravy the first time it is used. Get a large table napkin—one to match the cloth, if possible—and a piece of white oilcloth as much smaller than the napkin. Put the oilcloth where the meat-dish will stand, and spread the napkin over it. The gravy cannot penetrate the oilcloth, and thus a considerable saving in the washing bill is effected.

The Art of Pleasing Them.

"The chief thing is to give your husband what he wants," says a woman learned in the ways of pleasing men, "whether you think he ought to have it or not. A sick man or even a half-intoxicated man who thinks you are the most wonderful woman in the world is better than a healthy, sober man who never comes home or has nothing to say when he does."

MOTIF FOR BELT. The belt motif may be carried all around the belt, or used only across the back. It is worked in colored or white as preferred. The embroidery is done in the solid satin stitch, with the exception of the ovals, which are worked as eyelets. Mercerized cotton No. 20 should be used.

SPRAY FOR SHIRTTWAIST OR NIGHT DRESS. This spray for the front of a shirrtwaist or night dress is effective and easy to do. It may be embroidered in the solid satin stitch, or in the long and short stitch, which forms a heavy outline around flowers and leaves. The small dots are worked in French knots, and the larger ones as eyelets. The stems are done in the outline stitch. Use mercerized cotton No. 20.

CURRENT TOPICS.

ONCE a week in Washington during the winter season, large and notable assemblages of women come together to hear Miss Janet Richards lecture on current topics. She has created her own field, and gives these talks every day in the week to large audiences in different cities. She has been engaged in her work for years, and has a genius for it. I often think as I listen to her that the wisest statesman might profit by her talks.

Your first thought may be, as mine was, that such a lecture would satisfy the desire for information and lead to less interest in the daily papers. On the contrary it creates a taste for the right kind of news, teaches discrimination and stimulates the appetite for news of permanent value.

It has always seemed to me that Miss Richards' plan of presentation might be adapted to small classes or groups of women who wish to get broader outlook upon public questions. She gathers clippings, news items, editorials, cartoons, on both sides where there is controversy, which she makes the basis of her discussion. Such a program alone could be made the nucleus of weekly neighborhood club meetings. Some member especially gifted might prepare the talks or several members might co-operate, or different members might read succeeding weeks. This work should not be a substitute for individual reading, but an incentive and training for it. The practice of presenting material gathered from reading is an excellent way to gain self-possession and freedom of expression. It adds wonderfully in conversation, which is becoming a lost art.

From my point of view there is no more important educational need for women today than broader understanding of current events and public questions. No amount of abstract culture takes the place of present day knowledge which we need as a basis of wise adjustment and useful activity.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Practical Way to Make Money by Suppers And Sales.
(By Alice E. Whitaker)

Women have found a better way to raise money for the church or other special objects than by carrying their own cakes and baked beans to a public hall and inviting their families to eat and pay. The sale of useless pen-wipers and shaving razors at exorbitant prices is also out of fashion. Women are now convinced that in the old way there was a lot of hard work, the only commendable point being the opportunity for isolated ones to get together for a little sociability. They have now learned better business methods.

In some cases at present the busy workers solicit nothing and give nothing but their own time. Food materials are bought as a reasonable as possible and sometimes a generous grocer or marketman will sell at a wholesale price. After the luncheon or supper is served and receipts counted, the cost of material and any other expense like fuel, express, rent of dishes or pay for a woman to wash dishes or clean up, is subtracted and the balance represents the real profit which can be turned over as a gift to the cause. This is a safe, sure way to make money but the patronage will depend of course on the locality.

It is always safe to plan that people will be willing and satisfied to pay for a square meal and this fact suggests the necessity of being neither extravagant or stingy in the serving at public dinners and suppers. One woman or man with experience should oversee the serving. No matter how small the affair may be, the waiters must not take what they please from the serving room or kitchen for that is a sure way to make trouble. No favorite patron is entitled to more than another at the same price, yet without systematic oversight, some are likely to get more than they pay for, or more than their share of the choicest portions.

In one church the sewing bee has been a yearly sale of aprons which proves that exact methods mean money. Meetings are held once in two weeks a part of the year and monthly during warm weather. Material is bought at wholesale when possible and often in desirable amounts. The minister's wife cuts out all the work and has more than thirty different patterns which include everything from the plain kitchen "string" to the fancy chafing dish aprons.

Whenever the bee meets several members by turn keep the sewing machine going all day while others bustle, make button holes, and finish off. Some of the fancy aprons are embroidered at home and lace edges are added at individual expense.

All aprons, whatever their intended use, are made of the best materials and so great is their reputation that orders are taken all the year and at the sale early in December there are never enough for the demand hence the order books begin to fill again. Kitchen aprons give the least profit as they take a large amount of cloth but even these net a fair sum and always find ready buyers. So do the embroidered ones folded neatly in tissue paper. Sewing aprons, clothes pin aprons, generous sized ones for profit carefully calculated. Another profit worth considering is that, through the bee, about every woman who attends the church is doing a little something for the sale. She may not be an active member but she sends for an apron to make, or a towel to embroider for instance. No hostess of the bee is allowed to furnish more than tea and coffee and the use of her sewing machine. Members take their own luncheon which must be very simple. Some members go every time and stay all day, others two or three times just for the afternoon but the spirit of helpfulness and sociability is shared and kept alive.

Americans Wed in Paris.
Paris Oct. 15.—A wedding ceremony in the French capital was much interested in the wedding today of Miss Anne, the Elsie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Elsie of New Orleans, and Adeline Iselin, second son of C. Oliver Iselin of New York. Both bride and groom are well known to society on both sides of the Atlantic. The bride is of long and notable lineage, and through her father by the paternal line she is a descendant of the younger son of the Marquis de l'Engel de Bretagne, who settled in America in the early part of the last century. By her father on the maternal side she comes of English stock which leads back to Lawrence Washington, the great uncle of George Washington. Mr. Iselin's family has long been prominent in New York. C. Oliver Iselin is noted for his interest in yacht racing. The son was educated at Oxford and has spent much time abroad.

Universalist General Convention.
Springfield, Mass., Oct. 18.—Eight hundred leaders of the Universalist church throughout the country were in attendance here today at the opening of the general conference of their denomination. At the initial session this morning Rev. C. F. Dickinson of Connecticut discussed "The New Denominationalism." The convention proper will last only five days, but the meetings of the different church organizations will probably take over a week.

"I think Dan Blair is excellent stuff," Gordon said.

"He is the greenest, youngest, most ridiculous infant," she exclaimed with irritation, and laughed.

"His money is old enough to walk, however, isn't it, Lily?" She made an angry gesture.

"I expected you'd say something like that," she said.

Her companion met her eyes directly. She left her chair and came and sat down beside him on the small sofa. As he did not move, or look at her, but regarded his cigarette with interest, she leaned close to him and whispered: "Gordon, try to be nice and decent. Try to forget yourself. Don't you see what a wonderful chance it is for me, and that, as far as you and I are concerned, it can't go on?"

The face of the man by her side grew somber. The charm this woman had for him had never lessened since the day when he told her he loved her, long before his marriage, and they were both too poor.

"We have always been too poor, and Edith is jealous of me every day and hour of her life. Can't you be generous?"

He rose and stood over her, looking down at her beautiful form and her somewhat softened face, but his eyes were hard and his face very pale.

"You had better go, Gordon," she said slowly; "you had better go. . . ."

Then, as he obeyed her and went like a flash as far as the door, she followed him and whispered softly: "If you're really only jealous, I can forgive you."

He managed to get out: "His father is my friend; he sent the boy to me and I've been a bad guardian." He made a gesture of despair. "Put yourself in my place. Let Dan Blair go, Lily; let him go."

Her eyelids flickered a little, and she said sharply: "You're out of your senses, Gordon—and what if I love him?"

With a low exclamation he caught her hand at the wrist so hard that she cried out, and he said between his teeth: "You don't love him! Take those words back!"

"Of course I do. Let me free!"

"No," he said passionately, holding her fast. "Not until you take that back."

His face, his tone, his force, dominated her; the remembrance of her past, a possible future, made her waver under his eyes, and the woman smiled at him as Blair had never seen her smile.

"Very well, then, go," she capitulated almost tenderly; "I don't love that boy, of course. I'm marrying him for his money. Now, will you let me go?"

But he held her still more firmly and kissed her several times before he finally set her free, and went out of the house miserable—bound to her by the strongest chains—bound in his conscience and by honor to his trust to Dan's father, and yet handicapped by another sense of honor which decrees that man must keep silence to the end.

CHAPTER XVII.

Lilly Lane Sings.

The house of the Duchess of Breakwater in Park Lane was white, with green blinds and green balconies; beautiful, distinguished and old, mellow with traditions, and the tide of fashion poured its stream into the musicroom to listen to the Sunday concert. Without, the day was bland and beautiful, mild spring in the deep sweet air, and already the bloom lay over the park and along the turf. Piccadilly was ablaze with flowers, and in the windows and in the flower-women's baskets they were so sweet as to make the heart ache and to make the senses thrill. Keen to the spring beauty, the last guest to go into the drawing room of the Duchess of Breakwater was the young American man in whom the magic of the season had stirred the blood. He seemed the youngest and the brightest guest to cross the sill of the great house whose debts he was going to pay, and whose future he was going to secure with American money.

Close after him a motor car rolled up to the curb, and under the awning Lilly Lane passed quickly, as though thiselidown, blown into the distinguished house. The actress was taken possession of by several people and shown upstairs.

Dan spoke to his hostess, who wore over her azure dress, a necklace given her by Dan. She said he was "too late for words," and why hadn't he come before. After greeting him she set him free, and he went eagerly to find his place next to an elderly woman whom he liked immensely, Lady Calvern. She had given him twenty pounds for some of his poor. Lady Calvern had a calm, kind face, and Dan sat down beside her, well out of the crush, and they talked amiably throughout the violin solo.

"Think of it," she said, "Lilly Lane of the Gaiety is going to sing. I'd sit through a great deal for that. Let that man with the fiddle do his worst."

Blair laughed appreciatively. He thought Lady Calvern would be a good friend for Miss Lane, better than the duchess herself. "I wish Lilly could hear you talk about her violinist," he said, delighted; "she thinks he's the whole show." And tentatively, his ingenuous eyes fixed on his friend, he asked: "I wonder how you would like to meet Miss Lane. She's perfectly ripping, and she's from my state."

"Meet her!" Lady Calvern exclaimed, but before she could finish, through the room ran the little anticipatory rattle that comes before the great, and which, when they have gone, breaks into applause. The great actress had appeared to give her number. Dan and Lady Calvern, behind the palms in a little corner of their own, watched her.

A clever understanding of the world into which she was to come this day, had made the girl dress like a charm. She stood quietly by the piano, her hands folded. Among the high ladies of the English world in their splendid frocks, their jewels and feathers, she was a simple figure, her dress snow white, high to her throat, undecorated by any gay color, according to the fashion of the time. It was such a dress as Tommy might have painted, and under her arms and from across her breast there fell a soft coral-colored silken scarf. The costume was daring in its simplicity. She might have been Emma, Lady Hamilton, because perfectly beautiful, perfectly talented, she could risk severe simplicity, having in herself the fire and the art and the seduction. Her hair was a golden crown and her eyes like stars. She was excited, and the scarlet had run along her cheeks like wine spilled over ivory.

She looked around the room, failed to see Blair, but saw the Duchess of Breakwater in her velvet and her jewels. Lilly Lane began to sing. Dan and she had chosen "Mandalay" and she began with it. Her dress only was simple. All the complexity of her talent, whatever she knew of seduction and charm, she put in the rendering of her song. Even the conventional ardor, most of which knew her well, were enchanted over again, and they went wild about her. She had never been so charming. The men clapped her until she began in self-defense another favorite of the moment, and ended in a perfect huzzah of applause.

She refused to sing again until, in the distance, she saw Dan standing by the column near his seat. Then indicating to the pianist what she wanted, she sang "The Earl of Moray," such a rendering of the old ballad as had not been heard in London, and coming, as it did, from the lips of a popular singer whose character and whose voice were not supposed to be sympathetic to a piece of music of this kind; the effect was startling. Lilly Lane's face grew pale with the touching old tragedy, the scarlet faded from her cheeks, her eyes grew dark and moist, she might indeed have been the lady looking from the castle wall while they carried the body of her dead lover under those beautiful eyes.

Dan felt his heart grow cold. If she had awakened him when he was a little boy, she thrilled him now; he could have wept. Lady Calvern's old wife tears away. When the last note of the accompaniment had ended, Dan's friend at his side said: "How utterly ravishing! What a beautiful, lovely creature; how charming and how frail!"

"He scarcely answered. He was making his way to Lilly Lane, and he wrung her hand, murmuring, 'Oh, you're great; you're great!' And the pleasure on his face repaid her over and over again. 'Come, I want you to meet the Duchess of Breakwater, and some other friends of mine.'"

As he let her little cold hand fall and turned about, the room as by magic had cleared. The prime minister had arrived late and was in the other room. The refreshments were also being served. There was no one to meet Lilly Lane, except for several young men who came up eagerly and asked to be presented, Gordon Calverley among them.

"Where's Lilly?" Dan asked him; "you're great; you're great!"

"In the conservatory with the prime minister," and Calverley looked meaningfully at Dan, as much as to say, "Now don't be an utter fool."

But Lilly Lane herself saved the situation. She shook hands with the utmost cordiality and sweetness with the men who had been presented to her, and asked Dan to take her to her motor. He waited for her at the door and she came down wrapped around as usual in her filmy scarf.

"Are you better?" he asked eagerly. "You look awfully stunning, and I don't think I can ever thank you enough."

She assured him that she was "all right," and that she had a "lovely new role to learn and that it was coming on next month." He helped her in and she seemed to fill the motor like a basket of fresh white flowers. Again he repeated, as he held the door open:

"I can't thank you enough; you were a great success."

She smiled wickedly, and couldn't resist:

"Especially with the women."

Dan's face flushed; he was already deeply hurt for her, and her words showed him that the insult had gone home.

"Where are you going now?"

"Right to the Savoy."

Without another word, hatless as he was, he got into the motor and closed the door.

"I'm going to take you home," he informed her quietly, "and there's no use in looking at me like that either! When I'm set on a thing I get it!"

They rolled away in the bland sunset, passed the park, down Piccadilly, where the flowers in the streets were so sweet that they made the heart ache, and the air through the window was so sweet that it made the senses swim!

CHAPTER XVIII.

A Woman's Way.

When the duchess thought of looking for Blair later in the afternoon he was not to be found. Calverley told her finally he had gone off in the motor with Lilly Lane, bareheaded. The duchess was bidding good-by to the last guest; she motioned Calverley to wait and he did so, and they found themselves alone in the room where the flowers, still fresh, offered their silent company; the druggists' straw with leaves of smilax, the open piano with its scattered music the dark rosewood that had served for a rest for Lilly Lane's white hand. Calverley and the duchess turned their backs on the music-room, and went into a small conservatory looking out over the park.

"He's nothing but a cowboy," the lady exclaimed. "He must be quite mad, going off bareheaded through London with an actress."

"He's spoiled," Lord Calverley said peacefully.

She carried a bunch of orchids Dan had given her, and regarded them absently. "I've made him angry, and he's taking this way of exhibiting his spleen."

WHY SO WEAK

Kidney Troubles May be Sapping Your Life Away. Janesville People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Janesville testimony to prove it.

Benjamin Schallert, 269 S. Silver St., Janesville, Wis., says: "Two years ago I had a great deal of trouble from inactive kidneys. The secretions from my kidneys contained sediment and were otherwise disordered. My back became so lame that it was difficult for me to stoop or lift and I felt all run down. After using Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, these symptoms of kidney complaint disappeared and I enjoyed much better health. I could not be induced to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills were I not certain of their merits."

THE THEATERS

THE GAMBLERS

Charles Klein's Great Play May Teach a Moral of Wall Street to Men---But to Every Woman It Teaches a Lesson of Married Life.

LIKE most of his successful plays, Charles Klein's great drama, "The Gamblers," deals with the problems of the day from the masculine point of view. As "The Third Degree" was intended to show the evils of the police system, so "The Gamblers" is a hit at the political reformer and the Wall Street crowd, but the women who go to see the play will tell you differently. They see in it an expose of married life, one of the reasons why the divorce evil is growing and why homes are being broken up every day. And they're right.

Two men hold central positions in the play—Darwin, the righteous dis-night Mrs. Zolsler outdid herself. Her very chords were at once—roused and liquid. Her fortissimo were commanding without a trace of harshness. Her melodic line, as the human voice, not with the rigid statuesque beauty of Godowsky or Rosenthal, but with human shades of emphasis responsive to every touch of feeling.

Morocco E. Allen.

Chicago Tribune, Nov. 16, 1908.—The Zolsler precision and infallibility in technique were in full evidence in these, as in all that followed. . . . Everything is exactly and unfailingly in its place, and the result is clarity and accuracy brought to their highest power.

W. L. Hubbard.

Madame Bloomfield Zolsler has been engaged by Manager Myers at Myers Theatre for one concert at Myers Theatre on Tuesday evening, Oct. 21. The advance sale has already been excellent and from the present indications the theatre will be packed with a representative audience from Janesville and the many towns in this vicinity. Seats are now on sale at the box office.

"THE GIRL I LOVE"

C. V. Korr and R. H. Barnardo, the "soul" of the New York Hippodrome, wrote the book; Mr. Barnardo wrote the music, and the eminent young American composer John Zamecnik wrote the fourteen romping song-lits "The Girl I Love," the latest and merriest La Salle Opera House success. The original cast and company of which comes to the Myers Theatre Wednesday night Oct. 18. Furthermore, this piece, which delighted the audience of the Windy City for five months, was staged by Frank Smithson, than whom there is no more competent stage director in America. Mr. Smithson has more than a hundred successes to his credit, including such plays as "The Girl of My Dreams," "The Orchid," "The Belle of Brighthelm," "The Earl and The Girl." Mr. Smithson also had the expert advice and co-operative assistance of Mr. Barnardo, and between them they compounded for this musical comedy a setting that is far more spectacular and colorful than usual, even in these days of gorgeous productions.

The play itself is a merry farce of such fine quality that it would readily "play" effectively by itself without the added and luxurious embellishments of songs and a chorus composed of beauties from the La Salle school for the recruiting and training of choristers, an institution which is mainly responsible for the superior choruses always attendant upon La Salle productions.

In accordance with his invariable policy, Manager Harry Askin is sending the identical cast production that originated in Chicago, thereby affording the country an opportunity to see a big, spectacular musical production exactly as presented in the Metropolitan theatre. This policy is making the "Askin La Salle" trade-mark a joyous by-word from coast to coast.

There isn't a woman living whose sympathy wouldn't go out to the first man, for women, take them as a class, detest dishonesty in speculation above all things. They have suffered too much by it. But by the end of the play not a feminine member of the audience has a particle of sympathy for the vicious district attorney who condescends to the Wall Street thieves.

And why? I ask you. Because it turns out that he prosecutes and muchcrakes for his own political advancement? Not a bit of it! That wouldn't worry the average woman. Because of the way he treats his wife.

Selfishness incarnate crops out all over him, while the other man, lack-

New Law Passed Also Provides That Superintendents Report Delinquents to Madison.

The various school boards of the county are greatly interested in the provisions of Chapter 518 of the laws enacted by the legislature this year which has reference to special state aid for transportation of pupils.

The law provides that districts lying more than two miles from the school house by the nearest traveled road, may receive from the state five cents per day for each pupil so transported. Districts closing their school and providing for their pupils transportation to another school may receive from the state $150 annually as special aid, provided that transportation is provided for thirty-two weeks, the average attendance is eight per cent of the number enrolled for transportation, a safe, comfortable and proper conveyance, and a trustworthy driver is provided, and if the school to which the pupils are carried is a public school of the first class.

The law further provides that if two or more districts unite and maintain a high school and the grades below a high school, providing transportation for children living more than two miles from the school, they may receive from the state ten cents a day for each person so transported.

Another provision of the law provides that the county superintendent must report delinquents in attendance to the commissioner of labor and industrial statistics at Madison as well as to the sheriff of the county. Teachers are obliged under penalty to report regularly to the superintendent.

Tastes in Reading.

Mark Twain in one of his books declares that he cannot enjoy "The Vicar of Wakefield," a book that has charmed several generations with its exquisite simplicity and humor. The farmer takes great comfort out of this announcement on the part of a man who is not only our greatest humorist, but our greatest writer of fiction. He feels that if Mark Twain can abominate one of the treasures of English literature, and roundly score it, there is no reason why the farmer himself should not go to bed with his thoughts when his company begins to sound the praises of "Don Quixote."

The truth is that both books are far above the reach of individual opinion of any kind. They may be praised, or they may be smartly criticized; it is all one. They have passed over to the immortals, and there they will remain. They have become classics.—Uncle Remus Magazine.

Public Speaking.

Eloquence is the child of knowledge. When a mind is full, like a wholesome river, it is also clear. Confusion and obscurity are much oftener the results of ignorance than of inefficiency. Few are the men who can not express their meaning when the occasion demands the energy; as the lowest will defend their lives with acuteness, and sometimes even with eloquence.—Lord Beaconsfield.

Ink Spots.

These troublesome stains may be removed by an application of equal parts of citric acid and cream of tartar melted on a plate. Mix and rub over the stains and then wash out carefully. In almost all cases the ink will disappear at once without injury to the color. Stains that have been laundered may require several treatments before they yield.—Woman's Home Companion.

Yes, Madam, You Can Get the Woman You Need and Want Through Gazette Wants

Maiden that are more than the mere name; nurses that next to the physician make for rapid recovery; laundresses who think and act in your interests are all numbered among Gazette want ad readers. The woman who is seeking competent help should advertise her needs. She should state whether or not experience is required, the amount she is willing to pay, and anything else which she believes would be of interest to applicants. Competent women do not relish the idea of making unnecessary trips of inquiry any more than housewives enjoy giving unprofitable interviews. Meet the situation fairly and squarely. Tell your needs in a Gazette want ad and save time and trouble.

There isn't a woman living whose sympathy wouldn't go out to the first man, for women, take them as a class, detest dishonesty in speculation above all things. They have suffered too much by it. But by the end of the play not a feminine member of the audience has a particle of sympathy for the vicious district attorney who condescends to the Wall Street thieves.

And why? I ask you. Because it turns out that he prosecutes and muchcrakes for his own political advancement? Not a bit of it! That wouldn't worry the average woman. Because of the way he treats his wife.
